When a patient needs frequent medical attention. Raise the bed surface to get their arms or legs caught in the bed unsuitable for a child. Crib bars are closely spaced to prevent a child from slipping partially through and becoming trapped. But some patients may get their arms or legs caught in the crib bars—then a Canopy Bed is the better choice.

If you are concerned that a particular patient is being treated improperly you should contact your local child welfare agency for help in evaluating the situation.

An enclosed bed is an important safety measure in this case.

Caring for a patient with a chronic illness or disability is a challenge.
